

CALL FOR RESEARCH PARTICIPANTS

Single mother on Ontario Works anytime since 2016?

Do you self-identify as East and Southeast Asian in ON, Canada?

Who can participate?

- Are 16 years or older
- Live in Ontario
- Identify as East or Southeast Asian (e.g., Chinese, Filipino, Vietnamese, Khmer, Hmong, Karen, Korean, Lao, etc.)
- Are a single or solo or lone mother
- Are currently receiving, or have received, Ontario Works at any time since 2016

About the study

When public social assistance services go digital, who is doing the work to keep it going? Help us understand digital Ontario Works through the lives of the people who rely on it, the workers who deliver it, and the advocates who keep watch.

What participation involves?

- Eligibility screening survey (5-10 mins)
- One confidential interview (45-60 mins), with 20$ honorarium
- Zoom or by phone
- You may stop at any time or skip any question

Why participate?

- Share your story in your own words
- Talk about the work you do that often goes unseen
- Help shape better supports for the future

Phone Number

343-300-5702

Check eligibility

<https://tinyurl.com/JoinStudyOW>

About me:

I am Anabelle Ragsag,
PhD Candidate in Social Work at McMaster University.

You may reach me at:
ragsaga@mcmaster.ca

This study is fully independent of Ontario Works and has been reviewed by and received ethics clearance #8206 from the McMaster Research Ethics Board.

Who might be part of the East and Southeast Asian diaspora in Canada?

- East Asian identities connected to specific national or language communities (e.g., Mainland Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Taiwanese, etc)
- Southeast Asian identities connected to specific national or language communities (e.g., Vietnamese, Filipino, Khmer, Malaysian, Indonesian, etc)
- Non-state associated, Indigenous, minoritized, or regional (e.g., Chin, Hong Konger, Hmong, Karen, Moro, Filipino Chinese, etc)
- Mixed ESEA background
- Bi/Multiracial

This study is fully independent of Ontario Works and has been reviewed by and received ethics clearance #8206 from the McMaster Research Ethics Board.